

To lead a business forward, take advantage of opportunities as they occur and utilise all the skills and talents of their people, business owners and leaders need to turn challenging situations into remarkable successes.

This half-day workshop will enable you to consider your practices as a leader and learn how to develop your management team and culture. It will help you to consider your role and responsibilities in leading by example and driving the business forward.

During the session you will participate in many activities designed to help you:

- consider your style as a leader and the culture in your business
- · create a profile for leadership and management in your business
- · develop the capabilities of your management team
- learn about and experience the 5 Practices of exemplary leaders
- plan how to incorporate these practices into your daily work and challenge others to do the same
- start to build a personal leadership development plan
